EPA?, When does the EPA work to protect the environment? It's been decades of working for polluting corporations at the expense of the health of our environment. Your name is a misnomer. I knew an attorney who worked for the EPA in 1976, 40 years ago, who admitted the EPA worked for corporations, not for the health of our environment to the detriment of plants, animals, fish and people. He left the EPA so that he could maintain his integrity. It's time to do the honest work of an environmental protection agency--protect the environment for all.

Sincerely,
